LIEUT.-GOV. WALSH
DEPRECATES TALK
ALBERTA SECESSION

EDMONTON. — Hon. W. L. Walsh, Lieutenant-Governor of Alberta, challenged Friday night the element which he said suggests that this province or any other should secede from the Dominion because of alleged discrimination, and issued a call for "unanimity of action and opinion" among all Canadians.

Burst of "rash and sinister talk" which sometimes reach the ears of citizens must be ended if this is to be a better Canada, he declared. The Lieutenant-Governor's statement was made in an address to the closing session of the annual convention of the Alberta Branch Canadian Postmasters' Association.

GAMING HOUSE IN EAST COLEMAN RAIDED

At 12.30 a.m. Sunday, R.C.M.P. entirely surprised a party of seven men and the keep of the house, and on Monday morning they appeared before Magistrate Gresham in Blairmore courthouse. All pleaded guilty, and the keep was fined $25 and costs, and the others $5.00 each and costs. S. G. Bannan appeared for the accused.

Joe Yew, Chinese chef at the Empire hotel for eight year, finding advancing age somewhat of a handicap, resigned from his job and has been succeeded by Yip Bill of Coalde.

POLICE DRAGGING CROW'S NEST LAKE

Passing Tourists Have Curiosity Aroused as Mounted Police and B.C. Police Work at Lake

There was an air of mystery in the air. People travelling by car over the scenic highway around Crow's Nest Lake saw uniformed policemen carrying on what at first appeared to be deep-sea diving. They had a periscope trying to discern something beneath the waves. Then they commenced to drag, the drag hook and chain being attached to a heavy truck. A film of oil appeared, indicating they had struck more than just oil, for it resisted all efforts to be dragged from the lake. It is believed it turned over once, but the attempt to bring whatever it was to land had to be given up for the time being.

Though the police are very reticent, it is believed they are trying to pull from the lake a car which disappeared several months ago at the time several robberies, including that of a liquor store at Macleod, took place. Part of the liquor was found near Sentinel, scene of the famous train hold-up of 1921, but the car was never traced, and despite a keen lookout being kept night and day at the inter-provincial boundary, it was never reported there. It is surmised that the robbers, finding their trail blocked, ran the car into the lake, and by a circuitous route on foot evaded the police.

THE MOTORDROME EARN HONOR AND STAFF FEELS PROUD

The staff of the Motordrome, operated by James Kerr, are sticking their chests out proudly these days, for there is displayed on the wall a bronze shield awarded them for the highest increase in sales of Texaco products in a year compared with the same month a year ago. Also it is an award for service and appearance, as the Texaco Company insists on its representatives keeping their premises neat and attractive and also it is a noticeable fact that attendants are courteous and of good appearance. On The Journal asking Mr. Kerr how long he would keep the shield here, he replied that it would remain till another of the Texaco stations made a better showing than his. The shield is for competition among Alberta Texaco service stations.

B. P. McEWEN OPENS NEW JEWELLERY STORE

With handsome fittings and a fine display, B. P. McEwen, former Lethbridge jeweler, is opening this week-end in the Italian Society block, and is getting into position his fine fixtures and show cases. In addition to jewelry, and watch repairs, Mr. McEwen will also operate an optical department, he being a member of the Optometrists Association, so that persons having defective eyesight or requiring glasses may secure service at any time.

Mr. McEwen and children will move to Coleman some time in August, when it is hoped they will have secured residence accommodation.

Typewriter Repairs

Persons requiring repairs are informed that names may be left at The Journal office, as Mr. A. Harper, of Remington Typewriters, Lethbridge, will be in The Pass in the near future. Phone 209.

SOCIAL and Personal items may be telephoned to 209, to Miss Audrey Halliwell, or 210 F. It adds to reader interest to publish a live column of personal items, and The Journal will welcome same.

COLEMAN JUNIOR FOOTBALL CLUB NOTES

(By Ray Spillers)

Playing at Michel on Friday, June 5th, Coleman Juniors defeated Michel Juniors 1-0, to score their second successive victory of the season.

Coleman showed noticeable improvement in their lineup, having strengthened their defence and having added new material to the forward line. The defence was particularly strong and the forward line, paced by Jimmy Walker, played a fine short-passing combination game. Ian Smith, playing his first game, played well at outside right. Zezule had a comparatively easy time in goal, as the defence were clearing well, but what shots that came his way he handled well. For Michel Taylor and Tortorelli were outstanding performers, the latter playing an excellent game at right full back.

In the first half Coleman pressed the play and at the 19 minute mark Jimmy Walker dribbled through and placed a line drive in the corner of the net well out of Kraus's reach. This was the only goal of the game, and although the Coleman lads strove hard to increase their lead the sturdy Michel defence were able to hold them at bay for the rest of the game.

Coleman: Goal, Zezule; backs, Moores, Emmerson; halves, Houghton, Jackson, D'Appolina; forwards, I. Smith, Fisher, Walker, Beedington, D. Smith.
Michel: Goal, Kraus; backs, Smith, Tortorelli; halves, Robson, Taylor, Thompson; forwards, Lyons, Krall, Myles, Haycock, Mitchell.

Referee: Alex. Walker, Michel Captain of the Juniors: R. Emmerson.

Return game is scheduled for Sunday, June 14. Collection.

TIME EXTENDED FOR MODEL HOUSE COMPETITION

LUCKY ESCAPE

Last week when Mr. and Mrs. McBurney, Mayor and Mrs. Pattinson and Mrs. Florence Smith were motoring to Spokane to visit the Rexall streamlined train, they were met on a narrow curve near Yakk by A. C. Cummings, surveyor, formerly of Fernie, who in trying to avoid colliding with their car, swerved his car so suddenly that it went over the grade and rolled over several times before coming to a standstill about 200 feet below, the trees breaking the fall. They expected to find Mr. Cummings badly injured or killed, but instead by the time they got part way down the hill he had crawled out and was making his way to the top. They brought him back to Yakk, where his injuries were attended to, and a few days later he was out on his duties of inspecting government work, but was using crutches.

Concerning their visit to the Rexall train, which consisted of twelve streamlined cars and the engine, they thoroughly enjoyed the time spent in viewing the exhibits of Rexall products, which were arranged in unique style. Louis K. Liggett, president of the Rexall Company, and several executive officers accompanied the train and greeted visitors.

Lack Of Purchasing Power

One often hears the comment that the prosperity of the cities and towns is dependent upon the prosperity of the farmers, but little is heard of its corollary, namely that the well being of the farmer hinges upon the prosperity of the urban centres, though the one is unquestionably as true as the other.

Possibly the latter has not been heard so frequently in Western Canada as the former because, until very recent times, the farmers' income has been largely derived from an exportable surplus of grain. Under such circumstances the removal of the bulk of Western Canadian farm products was geographically remote and the fact that the affluence or otherwise of the consumer was of considerable import was but dimly perceived, if recognized at all.

However, this relationship between the Western Canadian producer and the consumer of his products has undergone a change in the past few years and indications are not lacking that the change may be even more accentuated in the next few years.

In the first place, during the past half dozen or so of depression years a substantial percentage of Western Canadian farmers have had little or no income to boast about. Because of a succession of dry years many of them had no crops to sell and others who reaped some wheat or other grains have not received sufficient price to render their work remunerative, partly because of the closing of former markets and partly because of the existence of a large carryover which could not be liquidated, except at tremendous loss.

As a result of their predicament many farmers, even with conditions somewhat more promising, have reduced their acreages seeded to bread grains and are endeavoring to increase their output of other products, including livestock, some of which are finding an outlet to a limited degree in overseas markets and others which, on account of their nature or because of lack of processing facilities, must necessarily be disposed of in local centres.

In the case of those products which are exportable, it is necessary to find new markets or expand existing markets. In the case of products which must be disposed of in local markets, consumption capacity must be increased if the farmer is to be able to dispose of such commodities at a price to yield him a profitable return.

Too frequently in the past two or three years, farmers have had the experience of hauling or shipping produce to local centres only to find themselves faced with the choice of disposing of them at ruinously low prices or of taking them home again, unsold.

The irony of the situation is that in many cases, perhaps in all of them, the produce would have been welcome in the home of the potential local consumers but, because of conditions which made it necessary for the farmer to raise such produce, these people were unable to buy it, or only at such prices as to render the transaction unprofitable to the producer. In other words, the trouble was lack of purchasing power.

There is no question that local markets are capable of consuming a great deal more local produce if the consumer had the necessary purchasing power and this brings us back to the original statement that the well being of the farmer is dependent upon the prosperity of the urban centres and, so far as Western Canada is concerned, this is much more true than it was a few years ago.

If new local markets can be opened up and the purchasing power of the residents of existing local markets can be increased the problem of the farmer will be at least partially solved.

Fortunately there is every reason to hope that the next few years will see the development of new local markets with the discovery of mineral wealth in the northern areas and its development, a process which is being greatly accelerated at the present time.

This, coupled with the increasing influx of tourists from other provinces and the United States give ground for belief that new markets for local products are in the making. That the latter has real potentialities, at present principally enjoyed by Eastern Canada and British Columbia, is evidenced in the recent publication of statistics showing that more money was spent in Canada by tourists last year than was realized by the sale of Canadian export wheat.

As for the expansion of existing local markets that is, as already stated, largely a question of purchasing power and how this purchasing power is to be increased is a question which is giving rise to a great deal of thought. Can it be done by some overt action or can it only be brought about by the ordinary evolution of economic processes?

One quiet student of affairs, whose name has never appeared in print and perhaps never will, suggested to the writer recently that it could be brought about almost overnight if ten or a dozen of the big industrial leaders of the nation would gather around a table and agree to increase salaries and wages all round. "Merchants," he said, "give much thought to the purchase and display and sale of their commodities, but little or none to the other half of their business—the ability of the consumers to buy."

Maintain National Credit

By Meeting Obligations To The Full Extent Of Capacity

Members of Canadian Manufacturers' Association meeting at Quebec, lent approbation to the suggestion by their president, W. B. Morden of Toronto, that Canada, by application of "common sense and some old-fashioned methods, should anticipate the coming years with confidence and satisfaction."

The president, in a comprehensive annual review of world economic conditions presented at the annual convention, noted improvement throughout the world generally during the past year.

He was optimistic of the future but with his optimism came a note of warning against too ready spending and loose borrowings by government.

"One feature in connection with the increase of public debt that is giving concern to many individuals and business men," he said, "is the increasing proportion of government obligations that is being acquired by banking institutions. It is, of course, a sound banking theory that when business and industry are depressed and banking funds are abundant, government securities form an ideal investment."

"This theory assumes that when industry and business revive and there is a greater demand on the banks for loans, the government securities can be readily disposed of to the investing public. But it is a necessary implication that the amount of security so held should not be greatly in excess of the capacity of the investing public to absorb. It is also widely felt that if our various governments had to look to insurance, loan and trust companies and private investors as the chief purchasers of their securities the increased difficulty of floating loans would operate as a curb on borrowing."

Mr. Morden said the aim of Canada should be to maintain national credit "by meeting obligations to the full extent of capacity, refunding our debt at lower rates of interest whenever opportunities occur, and reducing expenses."

Steady improvement in conditions made it appear "reasonable to hope that the world, as a whole, is gradually recovering from the great depression, which culminated the progressive economic and trade disasters that followed and had their origin in, or were at least precipitated by, the dislocation of the war."

New Type Electric Bulb

Steam Light Latest Development In Modern Illuminating Methods

A cigarette can be lighted in a jet of steam made by a new type of electric light bulb invented in the lamp development department of the Nela Park Laboratory of the General Electric Company in East Cleveland, Ohio.

Details of the new development have been made public. The "steam" light is one result of a revolutionary change in structure of electric light bulbs, made by a new art of welding metal to glass.

The steam bulb is about the size of a large house lamp. Set like a hood over its tungsten filament is a copper coil. This coil develops a jet of steam the size of a lead pencil almost instantly after the light is switched on. A piece of paper held in the jet curls up, smokes and turns to black ash. The steam with this burning power has a temperature of 1,100 degrees Fahrenheit.

The Only Thing Left

At a court function, we are told, Premier Mussolini stooped and picked up a handkerchief which King Victor Emmanuel of Italy and Ethiopia had dropped, and was profusely thanked by the monarch. Well, His Majesty should be grateful. It's about the only thing left he can stick his nose into, states the Windsor Daily Star.

Prince Rides Bicycle

When a Mongol prince, descendant of a long line of hardriding horsemen, abandons his pony for a bicycle, it is news in the frontier settlement of Kweihua, Inner Mongolia. Prince Khang, a leading Mongol dignitary, shocked his compatriots recently by appearing on the main street of Kweihua on a bicycle.

Forgot To Forget

One of our newspaper friends says the Windsor Daily Star brings a good story of the absent-minded professor who had suddenly found himself at a dinner which he didn't want to attend. The professor remarked on something like this: "I didn't mean to attend this affair tonight. I meant to forget to come, and I forgot to forget."

Was Partly Modern

Proclamation Of Coronation Date Broadcast To Empire

With forms and ceremonies inherited from the immemorial past, the date of the coronation of King Edward VIII. was duly proclaimed in London. But modern science and usage intruded even into medieval pageantry.

When the Earl Marshal, Duke of Norfolk, and his attendants stepped out upon the hoary walls of St. James's Palace, there was immediately in front of them a microphone to carry to the ears of the kingdom at large all that was said in the King's name. The proclamation set the date of the coronation as May 12, 1937. The date was announced in a special issue of the London Gazette.

While a fanfare blared from the silver trumpets of the Horse Guards, the Garter Principal King of Arms, with white-gloved hands, unrolled a long scroll nearly a yard wide. In sonorous tones he began his reading. The King's guard of Grenadiers stood at attention and the great crowd hushed into silence. By means of amplifiers, every sentence was heard distinctly to the farthest limits of the throng. Farther away on the battlemented ivy-clad walls of the palace, stood members of the King's personal household.

Sir Gerald read the proclamation, "Declaring His Majesty's pleasure touching his royal coronation and the solemnity thereof." The reading took nearly 10 minutes. It opened with a reference to "the favour and blessing of almighty God" and spoke of "our princely care for the preservation of the lawful rights and inheritances of our loving subjects."

Big Prize For Air Race

Race From England To South Africa In September

Sir Alan Cobham, announced that I. W. Schlesinger, South African millionaire, has given £10,000 ($50,000) prize money for the proposed air race from England to South Africa to coincide with the British empire exhibition at Johannesburg.

Schlesinger is promoting the race with Cobham, himself a pioneer long-distance flyer, as consultant. The Johannesburg exhibition opens Sept. 15 and will run until Jan. 15, 1937. The air race proposal has the approval of the British air ministry and the South African government has promised every assistance.

Entire organization of the race will be undertaken by the Royal Aero Club of Great Britain and participation will be limited to British empire pilots and aircraft. In this aspect it will differ from the London-to-Melbourne race of 1934 which was open to all-comers. Cobham said Schlesinger's motive in arranging the event was the promotion of commercial aircraft and the furtherance of air interest on the part of citizens of the British empire. But chiefly, he said, the race was intended to focus attention on the Johannesburg exhibition.

Cobham added the race would show that the day was not far distant when it will be possible to spend a weekend in Johannesburg. Possibly, he predicted, the flight will be accomplished in two days.

Feather In Your Cap

Phrase Originated From Custom That Is Almost Universal

This phrase means that something is an honor to you. The allusion is to the very general custom in Asia and among the American Indians of adding a feather to the headgear for every enemy slain. The ancient Lycians, and many others had a similar custom, and it is still usual for the English sportsman who kills the first woodcock to pluck out a feather and stick it in his cap. The custom in one form or another seems to be almost universal. In Hungary at one time one might wear a feather but he who had slain a Turk, and it will be remembered that when Gordon quelled the "Piping rebellion" he was honored by the Chinese government with the "yellow jacket and peacock's feather."

New Comet Found

Will Be Visible To Naked Eye Late Next Month

The new Pettier Comet, first to be found this year and first to be visible to the unaided eye since 1927, will swing into the range of vision late in July, Harvard College Observatory announced.

Still 120,000,000 miles from the earth, the comet has increased its apparent brightness from ninth to eighth magnitude in four days and by the end of July, before it starts to recede, it will be brighter than sixth magnitude and within 20 million miles.

To Have and to Hold

Men who are wedded to the practice of "rolling-their-own" honour and cherish Ogden's. They KNOW that Ogden's Fine Cut is a mighty pleasing tobacco, that it's always mild and soothing—the cigarette tobacco "to have and to hold." Now that better times are here, roll-your-owners everywhere are picking Ogden's because Ogden's is better. The package is better, too—because it has the purple easy-opening ribbon for removing the Cellophane. "Chantecler" or "Vogue" papers are the ideal mates for such a grand cigarette tobacco.

SHORTCAKE BISCUITS

4 cups flour
4 teaspoons Magic Baking Powder
½ teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons shortening (½ butter, ½ lard)
1 tablespoon sugar
Milk, sufficient to make soft dough, about 2½ cups
Sift together three times flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in the shortening. Add sugar, mix well. Add milk to make soft dough. Turn on floured board. Pat or roll lightly to 1" thickness. Cut over larger than ordinary. Bake in oven 250 degrees F. 15 to 20 minutes. When done split and spread with creamed butter. Put between biscuits some crushed and sweetened strawberries. The biscuits may be covered with whipped cream, and the juice from the fruit poured round the dish or served at the table as many people do not like the short cake biscuit soaked with juice.

Famous Canadian Artist

Homier Watson Dies In His 81st Year

As His Home In Ontario. As a Canadian outstanding artist, died at his home near Kitchener, Ont., in his 81st year. He had been ill for several months.

In the same rural community where he died, Homier Watson was born in 1855 and began his art career without tuition of any kind.

In 1880 the Marquis of Lorne purchased "The Pioneer Mill," exhibited by Watson at the Royal Canadian Academy. This painting and another of Watson's early works, "Last of the Pioneers," went to the private collection of Queen Victoria. Watson's fame spread and he made several trips to England, exhibiting with the famous artists of his day.

His outstanding contribution to the history of the Great War was his panoramic "Valcartier Camp," done under assignments by the Canadian government in 1914.

Ethiopian Troops Still Under Arms And Causing Trouble

Djibouti, French Somaliland.—Ethiopian troops, despite the flight of the emperor, are still under arms and at least 11,500 of them are within 50 miles of Addis Ababa itself.

With heavy rains due late this month, the fact is Italian troops are making no serious effort to penetrate the country beyond Addis Ababa with the sole exception of the province of Gojjam.

In addition to the warriors, thousands of bandits are roaming about looting, burning and murdering farmers.

A troublesome situation around Addis Ababa is disclosed by Italian general staff maps showing the location and strength of unsubdued and warring tribesmen. This information has not heretofore come from Addis Ababa, where there is a military censorship.

Ethiopians in exile here insist the Ethiopian forces will be extremely troublesome during the heavy rains.

Italian forces at Addis Ababa were greatly weakened when two brigades of Askaris were sent to riotous Gojjam province. Troops in the capital scarcely outnumber the surrounding Ethiopian forces.

There is much guerilla warfare outside the capital with Italian trucks being raided and their drivers killed. In reprisal, the Italians have executed many.

Native runners are spreading the wildest rumors from tribe to tribe in efforts to keep up morale, such as ones that Emperor Haile Selassie is returning and weird stories the Askaris are killing white officers and will give Addis Ababa back to the Ethiopians.

Executions of Ethiopians in Addis Ababa numbered at least 150. One group of 50 were shot down by machine guns under beam lights as they stood roped together on the edge of a gully near the aviation field. The officer in command of the firing squad was almost caught in the Italian fire when the guns opened up prematurely.

One hundred other Ethiopians, arrested on charges of looting and withholding arms, were forced to witness the mass execution.

Marshal Rodolfo Graziani, the pacifier of Libya, is enforcing an iron-handed regime. His latest edict is that when his car passes other automobiles all persons in the other cars, including foreigners, must stop, get out and give him the Fascist salute.

Italians discovered 4,000 pounds of dynamite under the supports of a big railroad bridge over the Awash river recently just in time to prevent its destruction, which would have stopped the Addis Ababa-Djibouti line for months.

Stamps Out Evil

Postmaster-General Commended For Putting Stop To Dismissals

Edmonton.—Postmaster-General Elliott should be lauded "for his effort to stamp out the evil" of wholesale dismissals of postmasters, H. Morgan of Didsbury, Alta., president of the Canadian Postmasters' Association, declared.

In an address to the Alberta branch of the association, of which he is also provincial president, Mr. Morgan said few postmasters had been dismissed since the present federal government took office. He charged that "500 postmasters were let out by his (Mr. Elliott's) predecessor" and that only 50 have been dismissed under Mr. Elliott.

C. D. Griffith, Estevan, Sask., Dominion secretary, said Mr. Elliott had informed him that members of parliament in the past had conveyed whole lists of postmasters they wanted discharged.

In discussing general problems of postmasters, President Morgan advised against "tactless" handling of "difficult" members of communities.

Will Hear Pension Claims

Acting Chairman Of Canadian Commission Goes To England

Ottawa.—Justice Fawcett G. Taylor, acting chairman of the Canadian pension commission, has sailed from Montreal for England. Judge Taylor will hear claims for pension of former members of the Canadian forces now resident in the United Kingdom. At the conclusion of his sittings Judge Taylor will proceed to France to be present at the unveiling of Canada's national memorial on Vimy Ridge.

Bondholders Meet

Consider Possible Action In Regard To Interest Cut In Alberta

Calgary.—More than 300 holders of Alberta bonds at a meeting here selected a committee to consider possible action in regard to the interest cut announced by the provincial government. A Dominion-wide protection association, with the bondholders at the meeting forming the nucleus of a local branch, was discussed.

Similar branches were already formed in New York, Toronto, London, Winnipeg and Edmonton, chairman F. E. Osborne said. Committees had been appointed to watch the bondholders' interests and assure, as far as possible, common action and an attempt to secure justice.

A discordant note entered the business-like proceedings when an avowed Social Crediter tried to read a prepared statement defending the government's action. The chairman would not allow him to complete it, insisting that political addresses of all kinds were barred.

Bond Issue Quickly Sold

Offering Oversubscribed And Books Closed In Half Day

Ottawa.—Subscription books for the new issue of 30-year 3½ per cent. Dominion government bonds which were opened June 8, were closed the same day at noon, Eastern Daylight Time, with the offering heavily oversubscribed. The issue was limited to $20,000,000 and, selling at 99, will yield approximately 3.30 per cent.

Books for conversions were opened at the same time and will remain open at the discretion of Finance Minister Dunning. The convertible bonds are $45,000,000 at 1½ per cent. due September 15, $63,000,000 at 2 per cent. due October 15, and $78,000,000 at 5 per cent. due November 15.

Sees Need Of Revision

Special Tax Revenue Act Obsolete

Ottawa.—Confirming the increase in the sales tax from six to eight per cent., a bill to amend the special tax revenue act received third reading in the House of Commons. The amending bill contained a number of other provisions arising out of the budget and a few changes relating to administration.

Conservative Leader Bennett said the whole act was obsolete and should be revised. It contained legal expressions long out of date and many of its sections were unworkable, he declared.

Mine Rescue Fund

Dr. D. E. Robertson Contributes $1,000 To Assist Miners

Toronto.—Dr. D. E. Robertson, rescued with Alfred Scadding from the Moose River mine, contributed $1,000 to the Ontario rescue fund for Nova Scotia miners, it was announced by Norman Somerville, K.C., chairman of the fund committee. Total amount contributed was $77,995 and immediate distribution of $25,000 will be made, 167 underground workers receiving an installment of $100 each.

Says Insurance Rates High

Edmonton.—Fire insurance rates in Western Canada were 30 to 60 per cent. higher than in the east, John Huggard of Winnipeg, charged here in an address at the convention of the Alberta branch of the Canadian Postmasters' Association. He outlined a plan already under way toward formation of a fire insurance company among members to give postmasters a lower premium rate.

Unfit For Duty

Hon. R. B. Bennett Says Many Judges Should Be Retired

Ottawa.—Many Canadian judges are physically and mentally unfit to give continuous and concentrated attention to their duties, Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, told the House of Commons.

The former prime minister, honorary president of the Canadian Bar Association and a leading lawyer of the west in his earlier days, said there were judges on the high court benches of every province who would not retire on pension although incapacitated to carry on their work.

The house was considering a bill to place federal approval on changes in the Ontario high court made by the province. They involved two new trial judges and the retirement eventually of the chief justice in appeal.

The Conservative leader referred to men in the prisoners' dock, giving their evidence and judges so deaf they could not hear. That, he said, "is a condition that exists at this time in more than one province."

At the same time, Mr. Bennett gave his opinion Canadian judges were under-paid. Hon. C. H. Cahan, former secretary of state in the Bennett administration, did not agree with his party chief. The trouble was "lack of moral courage" on the part of successive ministers of justice who could retire provincial high court judges who were incapable of performing their duties.

Use Waste Gas

System To Utilize Gases In Western Canada Now Permitted To Blow Off

Quebec.—Negotiations are now under way to commercialize the gases at present permitted to blow off from Western Canada oil fields, Major General A. G. L. McNaughton, president of the National Research Council, told Canadian Manufacturers' Association in annual convention here.

"We have developed a system," said the president, for manufacturing these gases into carbon black, such as used in the manufacture of motor tires.

He was not prepared to say to what extent the new system would be developed but he expressed the hope it would be able to provide Canada with its own carbon black, of which approximately $1,000,000 worth was imported in the last year.

Geneva Conference Regards Labor As The Vital Problem

Memorial To King George

Premier Baldwin Urges Erection Of Permanent Memorial To Late Sovereign

London.—Prime Minister Baldwin, speaking in an empire-wide broadcast on the birthday of the late King George, appealed for the erection of a permanent memorial to the late sovereign.

He asked the "members of one great family to resolve that long after our voices are still, there shall be some permanent memorial to King George for the service and happiness of future generations—a visible sign of the love of the king's people."

The prime minister commended the two schemes adopted by the committee of the lord mayor of London. The proposed statue between Westminster Abbey and the house of parliament, Mr. Baldwin said, would be "as beautiful a spot as any in the world when the scheme is completed and a sacred spot for every member of our own great family and also for visitors from America and all over the world."

The second proposal for the construction of children's playing fields throughout the country, "for which there is an increasing need," was praised by the prime minister.

"Land owners can give land. The rich can give wealth," he said, "but I would like to see a real offering of the people, a complete realization of all classes of the country, possibly of the empire, that we are all members of one family."

Lend Aid To Science

Advance Arguments In Favor Of Scientific Research

Quebec.—Canadian manufacturers were urged to lend every aid to development of scientific research and to derive the greatest benefit from the latest discoveries.

Benefits to be derived from this course were outlined to the annual convention of Canadian Manufacturers' Association by L. A. Hawkins, executive engineer in charge of General Electric Research Laboratories at Schenectady, N.Y., and Major-General A. G. L. McNaughton, president of the national research council at Ottawa.

Mr. Hawkins, who described research work as essential to an industry as a cost accounting system, said: "If we could produce more and more work and less and less, there is no reason why life should not be better than that enjoyed by the people of old Athens who each had at least four slaves."

Curtail Trade With Germany

Washington.—German-American trade, already at a record low figure, was further restricted when the United States suddenly imposed additional duties on 10 articles imported from the Nazi state, effective July 11.

C. M. A. President Sees The Need Of Trade Agreements

Quebec.—B. W. Coghlin of Montreal, as the new president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, challenged the C.M.A. to "go and negotiate sound and enduring trade agreements that will benefit all Canada."

"During our history we have made unsatisfactory agreements with other countries but we have also made very good ones," said Mr. Coghlin at the annual dinner at the conclusion of the 65th convention.

"Let us continue our efforts to negotiate sound and enduring agreements," he said. "Volume of trade alone is not sufficient. The character and value to this country of the exchange of products for those of other countries are vital to prosperity."

"Canada has immense stores of wealth in the form of raw and partly refined materials," said the new president. "But it would not be wise, economically, to export them unless it is done to the permanent advantage of all Canadians."

If industry was to employ more

Geneva.—The International Labor conference opened its sessions here by electing C. W. Orammams of Denmark as president. Delegates of 48 countries, including Canada, were present.

Dr. W. A. Riddell, the Dominion's adviser to the League of Nations at Geneva, and chairman of the governing body, hailed the conference as "an opportunity to create in the whole world a sound public opinion in regard to the vital problem" of labor and economics.

Dr. Riddell delivered the opening address to the 153 delegates and 236 technical experts. Italy was not represented, her delegates having been withdrawn from Geneva on instructions from Rome.

The Canadian, dean of the diplomatic corps in Geneva, stressed the importance of the report made up by H. B. Butler, British economist and a director of the I.O.O.

The report draws a comprehensive picture of the present international crisis and deals particularly with unemployment. Butler set forth the unemployment problem, better organization of the world's economic life.

The International Labor office, said Dr. Riddell, is "one of the most important, if not the most important forum, for discussion of problems fundamental to human wellbeing."

Storm Halts Expedition

Latest Attempt To Scale Mount Everest Seems Hopeless

Darjeeling, India.—The latest attempt to scale Mount Everest, never conquered by man, was feared doomed to failure when the Alipore observatory reported a strong monsoon raging in the Everest region with no prospects for improvement.

The outlook for the British expedition, led by Hugh Rutledge, is now considered hopeless. It has been dogged by impossible weather conditions from the start.

The party was forced back from its first base camp several weeks ago by intense cold and a storm and later was delayed by another monsoon.

Nine men have lost their lives in four attempts to scale Everest, which is 29,141 feet high.

Bounty For Timber Wolves

Alberta Now Paying Five Dollars Under New Regulations

Edmonton.—Amended regulations published in the Alberta Gazette provide a $5 bounty for timber wolves. Bounty for coyotes in the Cypress Hills forest reserve is set at $2. Coyagers killed in April and May are bringing $10, and $20 after June 1.

In addition, pelts are to be sold to the government, and the proceeds, less commission, to be handed to the captors, along with the bounties.

Big game licenses for Alberta hunters are advanced from $1 to $2.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

GARDENS IN COLEMAN

You can hear the talk almost anywhere now, "I just planted my peas. Did you?"

"Mine have been up a week. I used to plant mine earlier but I found they matured about as quickly if put in a little later."

And so it goes. The gardens are an absorbing topic of conversation. Supplies of certain favorite items cannot last season are running short and "there's nothing like your own canned stuff."

Some plant and hoe and weed from habit, some to have something to do, some because they like to see the things grow and most of us because we like a few real fresh vegetables for the picking in the cool of the early morning or evening.

In connection with all this garden talk, the following from an article by Rex Beach in June Cosmopolitan is interesting:

"You'd think, wouldn't you, that a carrot is a carrot—that one is about as good as another as far as nourishment is concerned? But it isn't! One carrot may look and taste like another and yet be lacking in the particular mineral element which our system requires and which carrots are supposed to contain. Laboratory tests prove that the fruits, the vegetables, the grains, the eggs and even the milk and the meats of today are not what they were a few generations ago. (Which doubtless explains why our forefathers thrived on a selection of foods that would starve us.) No man of today can eat enough fruits and vegetables to supply his system with the mineral salts he requires for perfect health, because his stomach isn't big enough to hold them! And we are running to big stomachs."

No longer does a balanced and fully nourishing diet consist merely of so many calories or certain vitamins or a fixed proportion of starches, proteins and carbohydrates. We now know that it must contain, in addition, something like a score of mineral salts. It is bad news to learn from our leading authorities that ninety-nine per cent of the American people are deficient in these minerals and that a marked deficiency in any one of the more important minerals actually results in disease. Any upset of the balance, any considerable lack of one or another element, however microscopic the body requirement may be, and we sicken, suffer, shorten our lives."

"BARNUM WAS RIGHT"

The one and only P. T. Barnum is alleged to have said many things that never found their way into our copybooks—things to which few of us would wish to subscribe. But he uttered a profound truth when he said "If you don't advertise your business the sheriff will."

Firms which intend to stay in business, that is, firms which deal directly with the public, must advertise. By the same token, it is a sign that they mean to stay in business when they advertise. For they are offering, through advertisements, their very best values.

You, the customer, will decide whether or not the ABE values. If they are not, it is "just too bad" for the firm that claimed they were. Don't you see, therefore, that no merchant can afford to misrepresent himself or his goods in print? Advertising merely magnifies a misrepresentation—brings the fatal day nearer.

Naturally, then, you can trust the advertisements. You can believe that the businesses behind those advertisements want your trade, and are willing to earn it—with honest values and fair treatment. Read the advertisements. Patronize the advertisers. It is to your selfish interest to do so. (Quoted with Maywood Syndicate permission from Review of Reviews.)

Fraternal organizations and lodges will find The Shopper a splendid advertising medium, with 100 per cent coverage in The Pass towns.

Mr. Frank G. Graham left on Friday afternoon for Lacombe to visit his son Charlie and Mrs. Graham and children. From there he intended going on to Edmonton to visit his daughter, and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Machin. He expected to meet a number of former Colemanites there, including former Mayor W. J. Burns, who was with the McGillivray Co. here for a number of years.

A Social Creditor told The Journal the committee did not place advertising with us because we "knocked" them. True enough, we have opposed Social Credit editorially because it was our opinion the theory was unsound, and events since the election have not inclined us to change of viewpoint. On the other hand, we gave the meeting they held here a full column report the morning after it was held, which is more than they ever received from the squib in which they do advertise.

Three Times And Out

You would hardly believe this was a fact in this modern day and age. Mail posted here for the village of Frank goes over the line between Coleman and Frank three times before it is delivered to the postmaster there. You post a letter here; it goes on to Macleod or some other point east, passing through the village to which it is addressed; then it comes back on the passenger train early next morning, but is not put off there, for, astounding as it may seem, it continues its trip westward, and at some point or other is transferred to the eastbound train. It eventually arrives at Frank just 24 hours later than if it were delivered direct. All this is done, so a Frank resident informs The Journal, to save about $12 a year. And the postal authorities in Calgary were quite peeved when a complaint was made.

Medico Says "Impossible"
Scores of residents of North Side (Endicott, N.Y.) have been calling on Mrs. Charles Uhler, 62, to see a crawfish or creek crab which she declares she vomited up Sunday night, after it had lived in her stomach 29 years.

Doctor John Hudock, summoned by Mrs. Uhler this morning, declared it impossible for the crab to have lived in the woman's stomach any length of time, pointing out that the digestive fluids would dissolve it.

However, Mrs. Uhler believes that she swallowed the egg of the crab while drinking from a stream in her native Czecho-Slovakia before coming to this country twenty years ago. She has had stomach trouble 29 years and dates the disorder from the time the crab became active.

The crayfish was found by her in the dooryard Monday morning where she had been ill Sunday night.—Endicott Bulletin.

The above is not cited as a record tall fish tale for the season. But possibly it will do till a taller one comes along.

MONTREAL SHOCKED BY DAYLIGHT ROBBERY

Fifty years ago it appears that Montreal could challenge the supremacy of Chicago for unblushing banditry. An ancient copy of the Watchman (Lachute) throws light on a daring robbery, which contrasts queerly with modern holdups in which armories loot untold thousands (fully insured) from our Canadian banks.

"For pure gall," says The Watchman of May 21, 1886, "the thieves of Montreal are unmatched on this continent. The other evening a rough-looking character walked in through the open door of a Mrs. Henault's house on St. Joseph street, passed through the room in which she sat, into the back yard, stripped the clothes line and coolly walked out again by the same way with his plunder."

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

This year railway air services will fly 1,000,000 miles on inland routes in Britain as compared with 600,000 miles in 1934.

The United States senate passed the $224,000,000 deficiency bill carrying in its appropriations for next year's relief program.

Under a new treaty Ireland will ship meat, butter, horses, wool, hides and other products to Germany in exchange for manufactured goods.

J. E. L. Graham of Weyburn, Sask., student of University college, was awarded the fourth year gold medal in political science, it was announced by University of Toronto officials.

Conservation of tin cans as part of the German nation's raw material resources has become obligatory with the navy, the supreme naval command decreed.

Successful experiments in the revival of children's hearts after death were reported by Dr. N. Osti-povsky, of the Moscow Medical Institute.

Sir Allen B. Aylesworth, Liberal member of the senate for North York, told the upper house that Canada were given the right to amend its own constitution confederation "would not last."

The Canadian Jewish congress resolved "to support all measures designed to intensify the boycott of German goods." The resolution was adopted at the final session of the third annual meeting.

The Union of Canadian Municipalities will meet in Vancouver August 19-20 instead of July 27-29 as previously planned so that the meeting will coincide with the visit of Sir Percy Vincent, Lord Mayor of London.

Vancouver Harbor Master

Perfecting Of Automobile Gave Commander Reed His Job

For more than a quarter of a century Commander A. H. Reed has been harbor-master of Vancouver, and oddly enough, it was the perfecting of the automobile that landed Commander Reed, in the position he has held for so long. He retired as ship's master in 1908 and came ashore with the intention of going into the horse-breeding business. It didn't take him long, however, to discover what every landsman already knew: that the day of the horse was passing. So he returned to the seafaring profession, did some marine surveying for the Dominion Government, and eventually was appointed port warden of Vancouver. Though well over 60 years of age, Commander Reed is still a clever amateur boxer.

Will Be Well Represented

Prominent Canadians Going To Coronation Next Year

Canada, as in the case of previous coronations, will be well represented at Westminster when King Edward is crowned May 12, 1937. Prime Minister Mackenzie King and a large section of the Dominion privy council will attend, as will probably opposition leader R. B. Bennett and many other leaders and members in the House of Commons and Senate.

The world's longest poem is said to be the great Hindu epic, "The Mahabharata." It was begun in 500 B.C. and finished about 1200 years later.

Confidence in League

But Hertzog Thinks Versailles Treaty Should Be Overhauled

Prime Minister J. B. M. Hertzog at Cape Town termed the post-war Versailles treaty "the world's greatest source of friction" and declared failure of the League of Nations would lead to destruction of civilization.

General Hertzog, also minister for external affairs in the Union of South Africa, was speaking in the senate in a debate on the league.

He urged the necessity of revising the treaty, adding: "If war comes, this cursed treaty will be responsible."

The debate was on a motion by Dr. Thomas Visser, vice-president of the senate, that activities of the league be limited to the interests of world peace and the application of pacifist measures. Dr. Visser charged the league, as constituted at present, with "hypocrisy and subversion" to Great Britain, France and Soviet Russia.

Dr. D. F. Malan, leader of the National party, moved an amendment to Dr. Visser's motion, that the league should convene a world conference and should itself be revised in the light of its own experiences. He added that a plebiscite in any country in the world would result in a vote for peace.

General Hertzog expressed confidence the league would yet attain its high ideals. Its failure would lead to the destruction of civilization. Concluding, Hertzog said no one could condemn Great Britain for not disarming, because she was the one country which has done her best in this respect.

Business Was Brisk

Operators On R.M.S. Queen Mary Had Plenty To Do

Radio, wireless and telephone communications handled aboard R.M.S. Queen Mary from the time of departure from Southampton until the arrival at New York, included more than 80,000 words of press dispatches sent and received, constituted an unprecedented volume aboard a merchant liner.

Although 14 operators worked at one time for a period of 36 hours without sleep, it was impossible for them to keep up with the demand for service.

There were 1,177 radio messages sent, totalling 62,591 words, and 975 messages received, totalling 18,826 words. In addition, about 10,000 words were received from the Canadian Press and other sources for the ship's newspaper, "The Ocean Times."

There were 42 incoming Atlantic telephone calls completed for a total of 241 minutes and 52 outgoing calls for a total of 312 minutes.

The ship established a record for Atlantic telephone service, probably because she is equipped with a secrecy device preventing other persons from listening in.

The longest calls from the ship were to South Africa, approximately 8,000 miles. Also there were two separate calls simultaneously to London and New York.

She sailed with stamps sufficient to meet what was expected to be an extraordinary demand. Before she was well out, the library was selling only small quantities at a time. She had 25,000 picture postcards aboard. All were gone by the end of the trip.

Shatterproof Glasses

New Lenses Protect Eyes Of Workers And Children

Among the recent developments in spectacle lenses is the new English lens known as Motex. These lenses cannot be told from the ordinary lenses which shatter to fragments when broken. They can be ground to any strength either in white or colored, single vision or double. Besides correcting any optical defect, the same as any regular lenses, they have the added advantage of protecting the eyes from the danger of having the glasses broken on the face. This is particularly valuable in the case of children, and those engaged in work where there is a possibility of pieces of iron, steel or stone flying in the face. To those engaged in such sports as tennis, badminton, golf, etc., they are an absolute guarantee against injury to the eyes through breakage.

Production Was Excessive

The League of Nations committee on suppression of drugs was told production of a certain narcotic (heroin) in Shanghai during 1934 exceeded between 12 and 14 times the legitimate requirements of the world.

Natives of some African tribes bake their bread in ant-hill mounds. Large holes are scooped out in towering anthills and a stone slab is used as a door.

Airmen Are Honored

Recognition Of Achievements In Flight Across Antarctic

Honorary rank of air commodore has been conferred on H. Hollick-Kenyon and the world's greatest captain on J. H. Lymburner, it was announced by Defence Minister Ian Mackenzie. These distinctions have been awarded in recognition of the achievement of the two recipients in connection with their aeroplane flight across the Antarctic continent.

These Canadian aviators, both of whom have had years of experience in Arctic flying in northern Canada, were selected by Sir Hubert Wilkins to act as pilots for the Lincoln Ellsworth trans-Antarctic expedition. Hollick-Kenyon was chosen for his special qualifications as an air navigator. Mr. Lymburner as an air engineer. Hollick-Kenyon acted as pilot on the flight halted in aviation circles as an achievement without parallel in the history of flying. Upon Mr. Lymburner's ability depended the airworthiness of the plane for this test.

Hollick-Kenyon and Lymburner are British subjects of long residence in Canada. The former served as a pilot with the Canadian Expeditionary Force, and later with the Royal Air Force. He was wounded on active service.

"The achievement of these two Canadian aviators was the fruit of unique experience gained in Canada. It is recognized as a pioneer exploit, equivalent in its day to those of Alcock and Brown, Lindbergh and Kingsford-Smith," said Mr. Mackenzie, in making the announcement.

"It is the desire of the Canadian government to express in this award of honorary rank the congratulations of the whole people of Canada to Hollick-Kenyon and Lymburner for the honor that they have brought to their country."

Head Of League Society

Sir Robert Falconer Re-Elected President Of Canadian Group

Sir Robert Falconer, former president of the University of Toronto, was re-elected president of the League of Nations Society, the society announced in a communique released at the end of its convention in Ottawa.

John W. Daffoe, editor of the Winnipeg Free Press, was elected honorary vice-president, and Dr. W. R. C. Wallace, newly-named president of Queen's University, Kingston, Ont., was added to the list of active vice-presidents.

The communique said the society directed a special plea to former soldiers and members of the active defence forces to help in carrying out its program for peace.

Going Into Business

Lloyd George Building Shop To Retail Farm Produce

David Lloyd George, remarkably successful as a model farmer, has announced he will enter the retail business. The war-time prime minister said he was having a roadside shop built near his estate at Chart, Surrey, which will stock fresh fruit, vegetables, flowers, eggs, honey and jam. It is hoped the produce will appeal especially to the passing array of motorists.

Grenoble, France, recently had a rain of thousands of green frogs.

Colorful Motif In Simple Stitchery

PATTERN 5228

What a refreshing note for any bedroom—this spread with its daintily embroidered motif! The charming pike-bonnet Miss gives you a chance to adorn her hoop-skirt with gay, flower patches, cut from scraps, while her companion and garden come to life with only the merest working of French knots, outline and lazy-day stitch. You'll note a bolter method to match—so do hurry, and you can enjoy this lovely needlework all summer. In pattern 5228 you will find a transfer pattern of a motif 15 x 16 1/2 inches and a motif 4 x 15 inches; material requirements; illustrations of all stitches needed, color suggestions. To obtain this pattern send 20 cents in stamps or coin (cash preferred) to Household Arts Dept., Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 175 McDermott Ave. E., Winnipeg.

There is no Alice Brooks pattern book published.

INVESTIGATED LEAKAGES

Mr. Justice Porter walking to the London Law Courts to preside at the alleged leakage of Budget secrets. A number of prominent people took out insurance policies with Lloyd's against increased taxation of tea and income tax prior to the reading of the Budget in the House of Commons.

Luxury Travel In Russia

Soviet Boudoir Train Said To Be Marvel Of Conveniences

A Soviet boudoir train which makes the luxury trains of other European countries look like stage-coaches was on an experimental run recently to Sochi, summer resort in the Crimea.

The least of its appointments is a barber shop—capitalist trains have those. It also carries a nursery car with toys, complete bath compartments, individual radios and a train crew dressed in the manner of hotel doormen.

Passengers may rent pyjamas and slippers about the train, in order to travel in all the comfort of their own boudoirs. Each of the chairs can be separated from the others by curtains, providing perfect solitude for those who like it.

Women may obtain needles, thread, and yarn with which to while away the time, merely for the asking.

A tailor shop is ready for business at all hours so no one need arrive at the end of the journey in wrinkled or soiled clothing.

The champion athlete in bed with a cold was told that he had a temperature.

"How high is it, doctor?" he wanted to know.

"A hundred and one."

"What's the world's record?"

Airman (after landing in a tree): "I was trying to make a new record." Farmer: "True! You're the first man to climb down that tree before climbing up it."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JUNE 14

JESUS CRUCIFIED

Golden text: God commendeth his own love toward us, in that while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us. Romans 5:8. Lesson: Luke 23. Devotional Reading: Psalm 130.

Explanations And Comments The Crucifixion, Luke 23:33-38. On Golgotha, the place which is called the Skull, outside the walls of Jerusalem, they crucified Jesus. On either side of him was hung a malefactor.

"Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do"—that is humanity at its greatest. Men have their conceptions of human nature, and of what things make for greatness therein. These conceptions are very many and very varied. I submit that humanity has never been seen greater than in the Man Jesus when he said this. In the soul of Jesus there was no resentment, no anger, no lurking desire for punishment upon the men who were maltreating him." (G. Campbell Morgan).

The people stood beholding, and the rulers scoffed at him, saying, He saved others; let him save himself, if this is the Christ of God, his chosen. This was their test of Messiahship. "I did not enter into their minds for a moment that the meaning of Messiahship was not the saving of himself, but the saving of others." And the soldiers also mocked him, saying, If thou art the King of the Jews, save thyself. This was their test of his kingship. They could not conceive of a king who would do nothing to save himself.

And there was also a superscription over him, This is the King of the Jews. "Art thou the king of the Jews?" Pilate had asked him, and Jesus had replied, "Yes" (Thou sayest). Let us recall here the words in the first chapter of Luke: Thou shalt call his name Jesus. He shall be great, and shall be called the son of the Most High; and the Lord God shall put into him the throne of his father David; and of his kingdom there shall be no end. "In place of this superscription the eyes of faith see another, 'Behold, the Lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world'" (A. E. Garvie).

The Death of Jesus, Luke 23:44-46. Three hours of darkness and gloom. The sun hid itself from the sun hidden but the curtain between the Holy Place and the Holy of Holies was torn in two. Jesus' self-committal, a quotation from Psalm 31:5 was heard, "Father, into thy hands I commend my spirit," and then his spirit passed on to God.

A Remarkable Discovery

Enables Blind To Read From Ordinary Printed Page

Discovery of an apparatus which enables blind persons to "read" an ordinary printed page through a series of minute electric shocks was announced by Emil Ranssen, Northwestern University psychology student at Evanston, Ill.

The apparatus employs a photo-electric cell which converts light reflected from the printed page into the electrical energy necessary to produce the shocks. The "reader" places his hand in a specially constructed wooden "glove". Across the palm of this is a series of nine beads. Through the holes in these beads project the ends of small coils of wire.

Light from the printed page and converted into electrical energy expands these wire coils in different order according to the shape of the particular letter. As these coils expand, their ends touch the hand of the "reader". After long interpreting, the reader may learn to interpret each different series of shocks into the correct letter.

His inspiration for developing this type of apparatus came from Helen Keller, famed teacher of the blind, Ranssen said.

Once Did Flourishing Trade

Carver Of Meerschaum Pipes Is Dead In Vienna

Carving of meerschaum pipes, once a flourishing trade of which Vienna held a virtual monopoly, is dying.

Simon Schild, whose name was famous among the pipe smokers of the world for his artistic work, died there at the age of 68, almost in oblivion. Two other masters still survive, but none of them ever attained the fame of Schild, for whose pipes pipe smokers, decorators, and with artistically carved lions, dogs, or bearded philosophers, enormous prices were paid.

Allowing 30 years to a generation, an individual living to-day has over 600 ancestors from the year 1700 to the present.

A steering wheel which has no spokes in its upper half gives improved vision for the automobile driver.

It is said that blue-eyed people are more easily trained, and make better air pilots, than brown-eyed persons.

Camericians Dine In Style

Great Change Made In Barracks Of Second Battalion

For the 400 men of the second battalion Camericians (Scottish Rifles) at Quebec Barracks, Borden, "Come to the Cookhouse Door Boys" has now been translated into "Gentlemen, your meal is served."

Snow-white tablecloths cover neatly arranged tables, on which knives, forks, spoons and glasses, and even napkins, are laid out. Vases of flowers from barrack gardens complete the attractiveness.

Food is served up more invitingly and every menu offers alternative dishes.

Soldier waiters in white jackets—hover round, replenishing water jugs and clearing away plates.

No longer is there a noise like an air raid; plates are taken away quietly on trolleys.

Men are allowed to wander in their meals when they please, within limits—and they wear any clothes they choose, provided they are clean, from "full parade" to "clivies" and "fatigue."

Although the old Scottish custom of pipers walking round the room and playing at meal times has not yet been introduced as a final touch, there is discreet music from loud-speakers.

Major D. A. H. Graham, second in command of the battalion, who has had much to do with bringing about these changes, said:

"We believe this will result in a considerable saving over the old system of 'First come, first served' and 'Grab all you can, because you will not get any more.'"

Science Set New Record

Wirephoto Gave Newspapers Quick Service On Auto Race

While grimy-faced speed aces were smashing records recently in the annual 500-mile auto race on Indianapolis' famous speedway, science, with a camera and a network of wires, was setting a record, too.

Just 16 minutes after the wave of a checkered flag signalled Lou Meyer's victory, an Associated Press picture of the race finish started moving over a portable wirephoto transmitter to newspapers from coast to coast.

Never before had any picture been transmitted by wire in such a short time after a camera recorded a news event.

While fans were still leaving the speedway, the picture was in newspaper offices on both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, catching late afternoon papers in the west, and early morning editions in the east.

Division Of Ethiopia

Creator Of New Roman Empire Names Divisions

All Ethiopia has been divided into five parts by Benito Mussolini, creator of the new Roman empire.

His cabinet approved a project by which each part becomes an administrative division. They are: Eritrea—capital, Asmara; Amhara—capital, Gondar; Galla and Sidamo—capital, Jimma; Harar—capital, Harar; Somali—capital, Mogadiscio.

The cabinet also announced a division represented a homogeneous organism "ethnically, geographically, historically, and politically."

Addis Ababa was named the capital for the new administrative organization of Ethiopia with a victory in charge, said by the new-governor-general, and the chief of the general staff, the latter handling military matters.

Gas in the World War caused 181,063 known British casualties, which include more than 9,000 deaths.
